1. As usual, Kevin is being super sarcastic as he teaches, using the opposite of the adjective that he really means, and Fuad is worried that Kevin’s students don’t understand the sarcasm. Listen to Kevin’s sarcastic sentences and help Fuad and Kevin’s students by first writing out Kevin’s original sentence in Kristang, and then what Kevin really means, supplying the opposite adjective in place of the one that Kevin is using.

- EXAMPLE Step 1. You hear Kevin say “This pencil is very big.” in Kristang.
 Step 2. You write “Kevin says this pencil is very big, but this is false. This pencil is very small.” in Kristang.
 Step 3. You hear Kevin say “That man is very poor.” in Kristang.
 Step 4. You write “Kevin says that man is very poor, but this is false. That man is very rich.” in Kristang.

2. Look at the table of scheduled train arrivals from Lisbon’s Oriente station below.

Train No.	Arriving from	Scheduled Arrival Time
IC 44	Coimbra	08:44
AP 84	Madrid (Stesang Chamartín)	09:01
AP 15	Madrid (Stesang Atocha)	09:13
IC 18	Coimbra	09:46
AP 39	Barcelona	10:07
IC 74	Coimbra	10:08
AP 14	Madrid (Stesang Atocha)	10:11
AP 99	Paris (Stesang Gare du Nord)	10:25

Trains with an 'IC' in their name arriving at this station normally have 3 carriages, while trains with an 'AP' in their name normally have 8 carriages. Listen to train station announcer Luís announce the time each train actually arrives and the number of carriages it has, and then write complete sentences in Kristang describing whether this train is early or late, and whether it is long or short. Luís gives train names using a full system to reduce confusion over similar sounding letters (for IC 11 Luís will say "Istoria Chengsi 11" and for AP14 "Areka Pikapau 14").

3. Kevin's upgraded cybernetic brain has momentarily frozen after Kevin drank a mango smoothie too quickly. Unfortunately, Kevin also has Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder (OCD) and needs to sort out his things by a particular ordering system. Luckily, Fuad is on hand to help Kevin distinguish between objects. Listen to Fuad as he helps Kevin distinguish between similar sets of objects, and circle or choose the object that answers the question in the box.

a. Ki kamiza kamiza keninu? 	b. Ki kadera kadera nubu? 	c. Ki kareta kareta bagah? 	d. Ki floris floris krensa?
e. Ki pesi pesi pezadu? 	f. Ki albi albi alegri? 	g. Ki bobu bobu kaladu? 	h. Ki chumpiang chumpiang feu?

CHALLENGE Write a sentence in Kristang describing the other object you did not select.
